

Before the Master left for a trip he gave his 3 servants different amounts of his 'treasure'. Each servant got a different amount and the Master expected each servant to take care of, and manage what he was given.